Samail, Oman — 1973

A British teacher named John arrives in a village threaded with falaj water and palm shade. Sophia, his partner, gets to know the village one curious step at a time. A teacher named Thuraya opens her Book of Thoughts. A goat named Malood opens every door he shouldn't.

Across 36 Palms — stories of school days, souq mornings, rain over the valley, Ramadan lanterns, and one very fast goat — children learn English the way language is truly learned: inside a world they love.

Story by story, word by word — under the palm tree. 🌴
